Intierra Resource Intelligence is pleased to showcase the breadth and depth of its global mining insight in China next week.

Intierra's CEO, Peter Rossdeutscher, will present China Mining Global Overview at the China Mining Congress & Expo, in Tianjin on November 8, 2011. Mr. Rossdeutscher's presentation will cover a broad range of data and analysis including foreign mining revenue for Chinese companies, Chinese direct and indirect interest in foreign resources, global capital market conditions plus recent mergers and acquisition activity.

China Mining Congress & Expo, one of the world's premier mining congress and exhibitions and one of the world's top four mining events, has become Asia's largest mineral exploration and mining trading platform. It plays a crucial function in creating communication channels and new opportunities for Chinese domestic and international mining interests.

China Mining's reputation and influence has grown exponentially since first opening in 1999. The event covers the whole value chain; including geological survey, exploration development, mining rights trading, mining investment and financing, services, smelting and processing, plus techniques and equipment. In 2010, China Mining attracted more than 5,000 delegates from 60 countries and featured over 600 booths.
